

David Gillies, Director of Technology

David Gillies joined Pace Micro Technology in September 2004 to spearhead the Company's latest moves into next generation products and services related to the delivery and consumption of digital content. David joined Pace with over twenty years R&D and Product Development experience in the digital TV industry – from head end to set top box - working with major companies in the UK, France and Germany. David is a member of the DVB Steering Board and the UK DTG Council.