

Tassilo Raesig - Head of Production and Operations, Sony

Tassilo Raesig joined Sony in 2006 managing the content navigation services within the business development and Innovation group. Tassilo started his career in the telecoms industry founding and managing two companies for communication services and VoIP systems and started the first WiFi Service Operator in Europe in 2000. With the experience in IP networks and communication technologies he focused now on interactive TV solutions. He studied Computer Sciences and holds an MBA.