

Konstantin Glasman – Head of Video Systems Department, St. Petersburg State University

---

Konstantin Glasman graduated from St.Petersburg State Electrotechnical University with a degree in radio engineering. He has a PhD degree in film and television technology from St.Petersburg University of Film and Television. He is Professor, Head of Video Systems Department of St.Petersburg State University of Film and Television. His activities have included image processing, quality evaluation of image in digital television systems with video compression.