

Myra Moore, President/Founder, Digital Tech Consulting

Myra is founder and president of Digital Tech Consulting. She also serves as the firm's chief analyst. Myra has more than 15 years of experience as a market research director, technology analyst and business journalist. Myra has served in analyst positions for Paul Kagan Associates and Parks Associates, where she also served as research director. She has written about technology for a variety of news outlets including The Philadelphia Inquirer, The Dallas Morning News and the Knight Ridder News Service