

Dr Glenn Craib, CTO NXVision

Glenn is CTO of NXVision, a company he co-founded in 2006 to provide secure embedded placeshifting solutions. These end to end solutions allow operators to provide premium services to their customers with little to no additional infrastructure and also to provide the end customer with enhanced service and selection. NXVision provide the complete solution, from software within the STB (or dongle devices for legacy boxes), software for mobile devices / PC's as well as the system to manage the overall solution. Prior to founding NXVision, Glenn held a number of senior technical and business development positions within Data Storage and consumer electronic companies in Scotland and has a track record in IP creation and management.